Orphanages in Mexico teach children the value of gardening.

ABOUT US: Irish Eyes Garden Seeds is a small, family owned organic farm. Established in 1989, we are located just east of the Cascade Mountains in Ellensburg, WA. We have over 300 acres of produce that we grow throughout the Kittitas Valley. We are strongly against GMOs in all forms and offer a wide range of potatoes and garden seeds.

GO GREEN: On the farm we use drip irrigation and water saving sprinklers, which helps us use only half our allotted water each year while the remaining water is donated back to the Yakima River. When packing our product we use recycled boxes from local businesses. Our goal is to provide you with top-notch customer service and quality product.

PRODUCT PROMISE: Each year we donate our leftover seeds to many non-profit organizations around the world. Our donations supply seeds to school education programs, farmers who grow food for the hungry and organizations who will use the seeds to benefit the greater good of the world. We are so thankful that we are able to give back and help those who truly need it.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

What products do you offer?

We offer one stop shopping for non-GMO seeds and hardgoods. Potatoes, garlic, onions, shallots, asparagus roots, strawberry roots, onion transplants, seed racks, garden seeds, organic and heirloom products, seeders, fertilizer, cover crops, gardening apparel and so much more.

How much seed comes in each package when I order a case?

These are approximations:

- 8 tubers per package (24 packages per case)
- 60-80 onion sets per package (24 packages per case)
- 3 heads garlic per package (24 packages per case)
- 3 cloves Elephant garlic per package (24 packages per case)
- 5-6 shallots per package (24 packages per case)
- 50-60 onion transplants per bundle (15 bundles per case)

What's the difference between onion sets and onion transplants?

Onion sets are small bulbs - these look like a miniature version of the onions you would find at the store. Due to the high sugar content, we have limited ship dates which are explained on the previous page. Onion transplants look like green onions when they are shipped to you. They are already growing green tops, making it easier for your customers to plant.

I am located in the Southern states and our customers plant in January, when can I get my perishables shipped to me?

We begin harvesting our product in the fall (October-November). We highly recommend you have your order shipped immediately after we harvest. You can store your product and display them when it is convenient. Our coldest months are January and February and the mountain passes make it difficult to ship in the winter.

How do I receive price breaks?

Price breaks are explained on page 7 on the pricing page. For example, you may order bulk potatoes in increments of 50 pounds and receive a break at 100 pounds. for a single variety. Lesser quantities are available, but are only offered at retail pricing.

What classifies a Wholesale customer?

A wholesale customer must have a store front to sell Irish Eyes products - this includes but is not limited to nurseries, grocery stores, hardware stores, etc. The products sold are unaltered in any way. If our products are grown for future sales, contact us about becoming a Market Grower - see below.

I do not meet your guidelines as a Wholesale customer. What other programs do you offer?

If you are a farmer, we offer a Market Grower program. You must plant Irish Eyes product and sell the starts or your harvests at markets or to restaurants. If you do not meet those guidelines, you qualify as a retail customer, and you will be able to place your order at anytime on our website www.irisheyesgardenseeds.com

While we have designated webpages with updated availability, please keep in mind that ordering on our website is currently ONLY available to retail customers. If you are a Wholesale or Market Grower customer, you will not receive the discounts and may be charged tax.

STORAGE INFORMATION

POTATOES: Store in a cool, dark place with good ventilation. The ideal temperature is 35°F-40°F. Humidity is good for potatoes; if it is too dry they will dry out. DO NOT store in refrigerators or airtight containers. Florescent lights will make potatoes turn green. Some chitting is good.

GARLIC: Store in a cool place away from sunlight. Garlic needs to breathe, so keep it in a ventilated place. DO NOT store in refrigerators.

ONION SETS & SHALLOTS: Store bulbs in a cool, dry place. Too much humidity will cause them to mold. DO NOT store next to potatoes as this will make your potatoes sprout quicker.

ONION TRANSPLANTS: If you are storing for an extended period of time, unbundle transplants and lay out in a cool, dry, dark place. Brown or dry looking onions are still fine to plant. Trim tops before displaying to your customers.

STRAWBERRY ROOTS: Store in a cool, dark place. You may mist the roots if they appear to be drying out. Keep them in a ventilated area.

ASPARAGUS ROOTS: Roots need to be stored in a cool, dry, dark place with plenty of ventilation. Moisture will damage the roots and cause them to mold.

Red Pontiac

Red Pontiac is the #1 red every year! This large round potato has thin, dark-red skin, deep eyes, and crisp white flesh. Excellent for mashed potatoes and boiling but not for baking. Heat-tolerant, long-storing and high-yielding, it will grow in heavy soil. Well suited for growing in wire cages. One precaution about this variety: the skin is so thin it should be allowed to cure and firm up for a week or two in the ground after the vines die back.

Inform Your Customers About Starting Seed Potatoes Off Right!

If you received sprouted potato seeds, this is great! If you haven't, no worries - they just need a boost. You must chit your seed potatoes before planting them.

For chitting, the method is simple: spread the seed tubers in open-top crates, boxes or flats, one layer deep with the "seed end" facing up. (If you closely observe a seed potato, you'll notice that one end was attached to the plant, the other end has a larger number of eyes from which the sprouts emerge. This end with the eye cluster is called the seed end.) Keep the flats in a warm place (70 degrees F.) with medium light levels. The warmth stimulates the development of strong sprouts. Do not cut the tubers before they sprout.

Now, that your potatoes have sprouted you are ready to cut up your large potatoes with a clean, sharp knife. As a general rule, the larger the seed piece, the larger the crop both in terms of size of individual potatoes and overall yield. On the other hand, the larger the seed pieces used, the more seed it takes to plant a given area. However, at a minimum, each piece should contain two or more strong eyes.

The secret: dust your newly cut potatoes with Fir Bark Dust; it's a natural fungicide to guard against scab and reduce the threat of infection by bacteria or fungus. Simply give the pieces a light dusting in a bag or bucket. Then allow them to "heal over" for at least 24 hours before planting. Do not put in direct sunlight; avoid shriveling the seed pieces, which will weaken them. Once dusted, treated potatoes may be held up to one week.

Garlic

HARDNECKS (AVAILABLE FALL ONLY)

Spanish Roja

Gourmet garlic famous for flavor! Light purple streaks on 7-13 easy-to-peel cloves. Suited to colder climates. May not yield well where winters are too mild. Very popular with market gardeners and restaurants. Brought to the Northwest before 1900; often called "Greek Blue".

German Red

This large bright purple bulb contains 8-12, extra easy-to-peel, round, light brown cloves with some purple at the base. Flavor is strong, hot, and spicy. Keeps moderately well when properly cured and stored. Can be grown in mild climates; However, develops better quality and size where winters are cold. Color will become brighter if it is stressed by too much water.

ELEPHANT

Four to six enormous cloves in each bulb with a mild garlic-like flavor. The bulbs commonly weigh a pound or more each. The cloves are very easy-peeling. You'd think you have a giant hardneck here, but the bulbs keep very well, more like a softneck.

SOFTNECKS

Nootka Rose

Early Italian Purple

Inchelium Red

Silver Rose

Italian Late

From Inchelium, WA, on the Colville Indian Reservation. Large 3" + bulbs produce 8-20 cloves of good size. Mild, but lasting flavor, with a hint of hot! Dense cloves store well. Flavor can get stronger in storage. This vigorous softnecked variety won a Rodale taste test of 20 garlic strains - named "Very Best of the Softnecks."

Onions

ONION SETS

POTATO VARIETIES

Cecile

Cecile is a long, oval shaped tuber with bright red skin, yellow flesh and shallow eyes. Drought resistant and high yielding. Has some resistance to common scab, yet is susceptible to late blight. Best eaten first as this potato is eager to grow! Best roasted, boiled or steamed.

Agata

Beautiful yellow skin and yellow flesh with a creamy texture when cooked. Exceptionally high yields of oval tubers. Early to mid-season maturity and moderate storage. Try Agata roasted, baked or boiled.

Malou

Malou produces high yields of uniform, round tubers with bright yellow skin and yellow flesh. Has a delicious creamy texture when roasted, baked, fried or boiled. Disease resistance and a great storage potato.

Amarillo Moon

This very high yielding tuber has excellent flavor. Amarillo Moon produces small sized, uniform round tubers. Flavor is enhanced when baked, boiled or mashed.

SEED RACK VARIETIES

OGR500

Our organic microgreen mix is a combination of Mibuna Mustard, Purple Vienna Kohlrabi, DeCicio Broccoli, Bulls Blood Beet and Pak Choi. With a nice mix of colors and a spicy kick, these will lend flavor to all of your salads and sandwiches. Harvest in 14-21 days.

OGR501

A delicious organic combination of beans, peas and radish seeds for a spicy kick. Add sprouts to salads, sandwiches, omelets or just about anything to add nutrients and crunch to your everyday meals. Harvest in 3-5 days.
